NOVEMBER PRE-SHOW 2017

THE OT SHOW: DELIVERED BY OCCUPATIONAL THERAPISTS, FOR OCCUPATIONAL THERAPISTS.

Did you know at The Occupational Therapy Show you can benefit from:

- Networking with 4,700+ of your Occupational Therapy (OT) colleagues – don't miss out join your peers.
- Meeting 270+ OT centred suppliers to source new products and find the latest innovations for your clients – 32 NEW to the show!
- Having access to 100+ accredited CPD education sessions with topics across all OT areas - more than 30,600 hours of FREE accredited CPD has been delivered to delegates over the past four years!
- Learning from 89+ world renowned speakers, 70+ are NEW and have never spoken at the show before!

The COUNTDOWN IS ON to the UK's most exciting and most talked about event for Occupational Therapists – The Occupational Therapy Show! Full of bursting with motivational lectures and demonstrations presented by speakers at the very forefront of the OT world, thousands of occupational therapy (OT) professionals are set to journey to the NEC, Birmingham on November 22nd and 23rd! Not only is it completely FREE of charge to attend, but you may be surprised to learn that the education programme is also put together by occupational therapists! Here's what Adam Ferry, OT and education programme manager, has to say about what he sets out to achieve when programming the educational content;

"Each year when I start formulating ideas for The Occupational Therapy Show education programme, I consider what Occupational Therapists (myself included) want to take away from their experience. Are delegates wanting certificates to demonstrate that they have simply attended; sessions that reinforce that what they are doing clinically is 'right'; or dynamic new ideas for them to reflect on and implement within their own services?"

"I always hope the latter but also accept that depending on which sector the OT is working in their motivations and professional needs may greatly differ. My experiences within statutory services suggest that CPD becomes about meeting professional standards to support registration but in the independent sector is much more about increasing knowledge base and expertise to aid high quality intervention. That experience will certainly not be the same for everyone and indeed if it were, strong specialist sections or media such as #OTalk would not exist. So all in all, I seek to produce an education programme which contains something that every single OT can take and learn from."

Based on this, the education content focuses on a wide variety of areas including physical, mental health & learning difficulties, children & families, neurology in practice, housing, research and innovations. To add to this, there will also be exhibitor led education and NEW for 2017, the Posture and Wheelchair Essentials Theatre, supported by Posture & Mobility Group and National Wheelchair Managers Forum – there really is something for every OT!

As you will have come to expect from the show, this year we are excited to present yet more globally renowned speakers for you to listen to and learn from. The outstanding speaker line-up comprises of Philippa Bromley, Dr Jenny Preston MBE, Dr Joanne Fillingham, Gillian Leng, Michael Mandelstam, Stephanie Saenger, Dr Alison Warren, Alice Hortop, amongst others.

What's more, the major exhibition, which is home to 270+ OT centred suppliers, will enable you to source great deals on all the latest products and services you need to enhance your daily practice and grow your business. Leading suppliers from across the industry will be in attendance including Stannah, Handicare, Invacare, AKW, JCM/Sunrise and many, many more.

NETWORK AND HAVE FUN - It is just as important to us that you have fun at The Occupational Therapy Show, while learning and developing your skills. So, all delegates are also invited to attend the free drinks reception which takes place on Wednesday 22nd November at 17:30 in the Networking Lounge and OTea Time, which is a free tea and cake afternoon taking place on Thursday 23rd November at 15:00 also in The Networking Lounge.

More than 4,700 professionals are expected to attend the event – which will be co-located with Therapy Expo– offering the perfect opportunity to network with friends and colleagues from all corners of the industry. So, if you haven't registered for your free pass yet, make sure you do now!

PROFESSOR MICHAEL IWAMA RETURNS FOR 2017!

For 2017, The Occupational Therapy Show is delighted to have Professor Michael Iwama lecture on the education programme once again!

Professor Iwama is a leading theorist whose work centres on the nexus between culture, knowledge theory and practice in Occupational Therapy. He is the originator of the Kawa 'River' Model which is taught and practiced in occupational therapy settings around the world.

Professor Michael Iwama, Professor & Chair, Occupational Therapy, Augusta University

Professor Iwama will be presenting on both 22nd and 23rd November in the Keynote Theatre. Take a look at his education sessions and learning outcomes here:

Date and time: Wednesday 22nd November at 10:30 – 11:30

Presentation title: Like a River; The Power of Client Narrative in Occupational Therapy

Presentation synopsis: The most powerful occupational therapy aims to enable people from all walks of life, to engage and participate in activities and processes that they value. Dr Iwama will explain why client narratives of their real experiences and struggles in everyday life are essential for occupational therapy to succeed. An overview of the Kawa (River) Model is presented as an effective method to access client narratives, and in turn configure an occupational therapy that is relevant, and powerfully effective.

Learning points: By attending in this session, delegates will be able to;

- Explain the importance of Client Narratives in OT
- Explain the Structure & Concepts of the Kawa Model
- Explain How the Kawa Model can be Applied in OT

Date and time: Thursday 23rd November at 11:45 – 12:45

Presentation title: Introduction to the Kawa Model of Occupational Therapy

Presentation synopsis: The Kawa Model is the newest substantial model of occupational therapy, and the first to be constructed outside of the English Speaking world. Based on a metaphor of nature (Kawa is Japanese for 'River') to depict the life journey, the innovative model aims to empower the client's narrative of their daily life experiences. Occupational therapists use the model as a guiding framework to enable the client's daily life to flow better.

Learning points: By attending in this session, delegates will be able to;

- Explain the origins of the Kawa Model
- Explain the Structure & Concepts of the Kawa Model
- Explain How the Kawa Model can be Applied in OT

PHILIPPA BROMLEY, ON MOVING AND HANDLING RISK ASSESSMENTS AND PLANS-A PRACTICAL EXERCISE IN REASONED CLINICAL DECISION-MAKING AT THE OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY SHOW

Philippa Bromley

Strategic Lead, Moving and Handling Advisory Service

Philippa Bromley, originally a musculoskeletal specialist physiotherapist, moved into the field of moving and handling in 1992. She holds additional qualifications in ergonomics, biomechanics and manual handling, and has worked in the NHS, within research programmes, and within both the private and public sectors as an ergonomist, manual handling consultant, biomechanics tutor and expert witness. Before returning to the North East in 2013, Philippa worked within the third sector managing training and equipment provision programmes. She is a co-author of the 4th and 5th editions of "Guide to the Handling of People" and of both editions of the CSP Guidance on Manual Handling in Physiotherapy among other publications. She is a well-known national and international speaker and workshop presenter, including not only many UK conferences but also in USA, Belgium, Australia, Sweden, South Korea and Hungary. She now manages a MH team of eight in one of the biggest NHS Trusts in England.

On Wednesday 22nd November, Philippa will be presenting at The Occupational Therapy Show, in Theatre 2 at 12:45 - 13:30 on the following:

Presentation title: Moving and handling risk assessments and plans-a practical exercise in reasoned clinical decision-making Presentation synopsis: Moving and handling decision-making (especially in the community) is often made complex, not by the required outcomes or the practical manoeuvres, but by the many different factors involved in person-centred care. Often, therapists are presented with a difficult situation where their recommendations for safety are apparently disregarded.

This interactive session will present delegates with the information and the means to work through MH risk assessment and planning using a real case history and appropriate documentation.

Learning points:

- Outline therapists legal responsibilities within a "complex" MH situation.
- Use documentation to clarify the MH decision-making process and audit trail.
- Reaffirm delegates confidence in reasoned clinical decision making.

Theraposture will be reaffirming its position at the forefront of rotational bed solutions with the introduction of additional Rotoflex designs at the Occupational Therapy Show (stand D32, NEC, 22-23 November).

PIONEERING ROTOFLEX INNOVATIONS ON STAND C46 - TO BE UNVEILED FOR THE FIRST TIME AT THE OT SHOW - ALL PROFESSIONALS AND PRESS WELCOME.

Since 1981, Theraposture has been the considered choice for OTs seeking quality, reliable and proven rotational bed systems. The powered Rotoflex from Theraposture is the original and trusted turning bed that moves a user from a recumbent to fully upright seated position at the side of the bed. Its unique functionality includes vertical seat lift so users achieve safer sit-to-stand transfers and can enjoy greater independence at home. The Rotoflex range from Theraposture is the widest available which provides OTs and their clients with appropriate product provision every time. This range has just been extended with the introduction of two new Rotoflex models and a ground-breaking retro-fit option.

The Rotoflex from Theraposture has been proven to typically save up to £27,500 in annual care costs when two carers are reduced to none. The Rotoflex can eliminate the need for moving and handling assistance so users can access and exit a bed on their own terms. This lifestyle benefit is of significant value for all users especially those with progressive neurological conditions such as MS and Parkinson's. Owners are able to remain at home for longer without the expense and inconvenience of relocation into residential care. The new beds within the Rotoflex range offer a solution to a wider demographic of people who can now benefit from comfort, safety and peace of mind.

Liam Braddell, Theraposture Sales Director comments: "I would like to invite all healthcare professionals onto our stand at the OT Show - the launch of our new Rotoflex beds is not to be missed. I believe these additional designs represent a breakthrough in ergonomics and support for end users. They build on the proven performance of our Rotoflex range with the addition of extra functionality, functionality that resolves a common problem."

Liam continues: "There may now be other rotating beds, but there is only one Rotoflex and we are going to explain why the Rotoflex is notably different, unique in its design and functionality, protected from direct copy and completely trusted for over 20 years. Our Trusted Assessors will be joined by the German inventor of the Rotoflex so OTs have the opportunity to understand why this turning bed solution is truly the considered choice."

Alongside these exciting innovations Theraposture will be demonstrating the 'future-proof' Mascot Mark 2 Care Cot and the current popular Rotoflex Low Access bed. Trusted Assessors will be on hand throughout the show to discuss individual client needs and there will be a range of free educational literature available. Newlife, the charity for Disabled Children, will also be on the stand ready to explain how its close relationship with Theraposture benefits paediatric OTs and their clients.
